from the Chairman

One way WellPoint is capitalizing on new opportunities to drive growth for the company is by helping to shape the changing marketplace—and this extends to the public policy arena as well.

Public policy decisions have a significant impact on our customers and on our operating environment, and that's why we are committed to playing an active role in discussions that affect the health insurance marketplace. We also regularly seek to help elect candidates to federal and state office who will participate in that dialogue with us through direct advocacy, policy development, lawful corporate contributions and the sponsorship of WellPAC, the non-partisan political action committee of WellPoint associates.

What makes WellPAC's success possible is the voluntary financial support of more than 1,875 WellPoint associates. Our donations enable WellPAC to give contributions directly to the campaigns of state and federal candidates to express our positions.

Our Public Affairs team has been actively engaged with lawmakers and candidates at the federal level and in our 14 core business states throughout 2011. In addition, WellPAC contributed more than $440,000 to federal candidates, political parties and committees and more than $155,000 to candidates and committees at the state and local levels.

The core WellPoint value of integrity extends throughout all the work we do—including our work in the political arena. This report offers further detail about the political contributions and lobbying activities conducted in 2011 as well as the core principles that guide these activities.

The 2012 elections will provide a critical opportunity for our associates to join together and make their voices heard for our customers, our investors, each other, and the communities we serve.

Policy on Participation in the Public Policy Process

As the nation's leading health benefits company, WellPoint can play a key role advocating national health care policy and practices to benefit our customers and the general public. Health care is an increasingly regulated and legislated industry both at the federal and state level. Elected and appointed officials make decisions that directly affect our ability to make quality health care coverage affordable and to improve the health of the communities we serve. Our active participation in the political process is essential to ensure that we have a voice in those decisions. At WellPoint, we are committed to advocating public policy solutions that best serve our customers, our stakeholders, our associates and our communities. WellPoint believes that participation in the public policy process is critical to our core business as legislative and regulatory health care decisions made at the federal and state levels of government have a direct impact on our ability to serve our customers and compete in the marketplace. It is an important means of maintaining a viable operating environment and enhancing shareholder value, and we believe it better serves our business interests by creating a more informed policymaking process.

WellPoint participates in the public policy process in several ways including executing a public affairs strategy designed to inform elected and appointed officials of key public policy issues related to the company's business; political giving through associate-funded federal and state political action committees; corporate political giving where legally allowed; and membership in health industry and business trade associations which help to advance our overall business objectives.

WellPoint's participation in the process is guided by a set of core principles that govern our corporate policies on lobbying, political spending and general engagement in the public policy process.

CORE PRINCIPLES FOR PARTICIPATION

- ★ WellPoint engages on public policy issues that are core to our business and generally avoids engaging on non-enterprise related issues.
- ★ WellPoint works with members of government, others in our industry, the broader business community, our customers and the general public to advocate public policies that support our customers' interests and our business goals. The company's public policy positions and agenda are guided each year by our company's Mission, Objectives and Values.
- ★ In general, WellPoint is supportive of public policies that promote competition and free markets in health care delivery and financing.
- ★ WellPoint supports the implementation of health care reform and believes reforms are necessary for the sustainability of the health care delivery and financing system. However, that does not mean that WellPoint supports all public policies deemed as health care reform. The test for us is whether those public policies meet the definition of free market principles and advance the interests of our customers.
- ★ Political spending by WellPoint, both with corporate dollars and through our political action committees, will reflect the company's interests and be used to further our public policy positions and agenda and not the personal agenda of individual officers, directors or associates.
- ★ WellPoint will not make political contributions based upon party affiliation, positions taken on other, non-enterprise related issues, contributions made in previous election cycles or client pressure. No campaign contribution will be given in anticipation of, in recognition of or in return for an official act.
- ★ WellPoint adheres to all federal, state and local laws and regulations governing the public policy process and has established internal policies and procedures to ensure compliance with these requirements.
- ★ WellPoint discloses contributions made and received in reports filed with the Federal Election Commission and the various state campaign finance offices, as required by law.
- ★ Management of WellPoint's participation in the public policy process is the responsibility of the senior vice president of Public Affairs. This position reports directly to WellPoint's executive vice president, General Counsel, Corporate Secretary and Chief of Public Affairs Officer who reports to the Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer. Public Affairs updates are provided regularly to WellPoint's Board of Directors.

- ★ WellPoint's corporate political contributions, both direct and indirect, and its lobbying expenditures are included in its total annual fiscal budget, which is subject to the approval and oversight of WellPoint's Board of Directors. In addition, a copy of this report is made available to WellPoint's Board of Directors.

CORPORATE POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

While federal law prohibits WellPoint from making corporate contributions to federal candidates, WellPoint makes direct contributions to support state candidates in those states where such corporate contributions are allowed by law and may make indirect contributions, such as hosting a reception and paying expenses associated with the event. Certain criteria are used in making corporate contributions, including the following which have been endorsed by WellPoint's Board of Directors:

- ★ Does the candidate support public policy that promotes private competition, choice and free markets in the delivery and financing of health care?
- ★ Has the candidate voted or announced positions on issues important to WellPoint and its customers?
- ★ Has the candidate demonstrated leadership on key committees of importance to our business?
- ★ Does the candidate represent a state or district where WellPoint has a large concentration of employees and/or customers?

- ★ Would WellPoint's contribution have an impact on the candidate's campaign?

Throughout the year, members of WellPoint's public affairs organization make recommendations for corporate contributions. The senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company must approve each corporate contribution. Other members of the public affairs organization involved with political contributions include the vice president of State Affairs, the vice president of Federal Affairs and their direct reports. In making corporate contributions, WellPoint complies with all disclosure requirements as prescribed by state and federal law.

WELLPOINT POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE CONTRIBUTIONS

WellPoint provides an opportunity for eligible WellPoint associates, as defined by federal law, to participate in the political process by sponsoring the nonpartisan WellPoint Political Action Committee ("WellPAC"), which allows them to voluntarily combine their personal funds to support federal and state candidates. WellPAC disbursement of funds is made in accordance with a budget, and the same contribution criteria identified for corporate contributions is used in determining WellPAC contributions.

Throughout the year, members of WellPoint's public affairs organization and associate PAC members offer recommendations for WellPAC contributions. WellPAC contributions are approved by the senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company. WellPAC operates pursuant to all relevant state and federal laws, and complies with all public disclosure requirements. Information about WellPAC's contributions may be found on the Federal Election Commission's website.

When participating in the political process, WellPoint associates must comply with the company's ethics and compliance requirements identified in the "Standards of Ethical Business Conduct," which is available on our website. This document sets forth appropriate associate conduct relating to political activity and contributions, as well as interaction with government officials and agencies.

WELLPOINT TRADE ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIPS

Like most major corporations, WellPoint is a member of a number of national and state industry and business trade associations (organized under section 501(c)(6) of the Internal Revenue Code) to help advance our public policy agenda and related business goals. WellPoint believes that membership in these associations is generally consistent with the company's interests and plays a valuable role in bringing a collective voice to the process. WellPoint also understands that not all members of an association will come to agreement on every issue. Even when WellPoint does not share the view of one of these associations, we still believe that membership is worthwhile because these associations encourage dialogue and help to move the industry to a consensus on important policy issues. However, WellPoint does take these situations into consideration annually when determining annual membership.

Lobbying Activity

WellPoint engages in lobbying activity to advocate our position on public policy issues with elected officials and others in federal and state government. These are issues that affect our company, our associates and, most importantly, our customers. In 2011, WellPoint spent $4.7 million on state lobbying activities* and $4.7 million on federal lobbying activities.**

The senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company has oversight of all lobbying activities and expenditures. Other members of the Public Affairs organization involved with lobbying include the vice president of State Affairs, the vice president of Federal Affairs and their direct reports. WellPoint complies with all disclosure requirements as prescribed by state and federal law.

In 2011, WellPoint paid dues to national and state business and trade associations of which a portion may be allocated to non-deductible lobbying activity and political expenditures. Below is a list of the national and state business and trade associations whose dues were $50,000 or more for 2011, including the portion allocated to non-deductible lobbying activity and political expenditures.

** Federal lobbying expenses are reported as required by the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995 and the Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007. Visit <http://soprweb.senate.gov/index.cfm?event=selectfields> to search for copies of WellPoint's Lobbying Disclosure Reports filed with the U.S. Congress.

***The annual dues are reported based on the calendar year in which they are paid. The portion of annual dues allocated to non-deductible lobbying and political expenditures is based on the percent or amount provided on the annual dues invoice by the organization listed.
