America's health care system is in the midst of transformative change, and WellPoint is leading the way by making it easier for consumers to access and use it while improving the health of the people we serve. In this new post-reform era, WellPoint's Public Affairs function is more important than ever as the government expands its regulatory scope into our key lines of business. By 2015, almost 66 percent of the company's revenue will be paid either in part or entirely by the federal and state government.

For this reason, we continue to play an active role in the political process through our Public Affairs efforts, industry memberships and WellPAC, our political action committee. More than 1,875 WellPoint associates provided voluntary financial support to WellPAC in 2012. Their generosity allowed our PAC to make contributions of more than $780,000 to federal campaigns and $140,000 to state and local campaigns on both sides of the political aisle in 2012.

Our participation in the political process helps us develop good working relationships with Members of Congress, as well as key state legislators, in order to communicate WellPoint's perspective on a range of issues including the cost and quality of today's health care, the establishment of insurance exchanges and the expansion of Medicaid. How we perform on these issues will be a significant factor in our ability to meet and exceed our goals in the future.

We deeply appreciate the commitment WellPoint associates have made to political involvement. This partnership ensures our voice is heard and makes a significant impact on the success of our company and the people we serve.

Andrew Morrison
SVP, Public Affairs, WellPAC Chairman

Policy on Participation in the Public Policy Process

POLICY ON PARTICIPATION IN THE PUBLIC POLICY PROCESS

As one of the nation's largest health benefits company, WellPoint can play a key role advocating national health care policy and practices to benefit our customers and the general public. Health care is an increasingly regulated and legislated industry both at the federal and state level. Elected and appointed officials make decisions that directly affect our ability to make quality health care coverage affordable and to improve the health of the communities we serve. Our active participation in the political process is essential to ensure that we have a voice in those decisions. At WellPoint, we are committed to advocating public policy solutions that best serve our customers, our stakeholders, our associates and our communities. WellPoint believes that participation in the public policy process is critical to our core business because legislative and regulatory health care decisions made at the federal and state levels of government have a direct impact on our ability to serve our customers and compete in the marketplace. Advocacy is an important means of maintaining a viable operating environment and enhancing shareholder value, and we believe it better serves our business interests by creating a more informed policymaking process.

WellPoint participates in the public policy process in several ways: executing a public affairs strategy designed to inform elected and appointed officials of key public policy issues related to the company's business; political giving through associate-funded federal and state political action committees; corporate political giving where legally allowed; and membership in health industry and business trade associations which help to advance our overall business objectives.

WellPoint's participation in the process is guided by a set of core principles that govern our corporate policies on lobbying, political spending and general engagement in the public policy process.

CORE PRINCIPLES FOR PARTICIPATION

- ★ WellPoint engages on public policy issues that are core to our business and generally avoids engaging on non-enterprise related issues.
- ★ WellPoint works with members of government, others in our industry, the broader business community, our customers and the general public to advocate public policies that support our customers' interests and our business goals. The company's public policy positions and agenda are guided each year by our company's Mission, Objectives and Values.
- ★ In general, WellPoint is supportive of public policies that promote competition and free markets in health care delivery and financing and that is in the best long-term interest for our customers, shareholders and WellPoint.
- ★ WellPoint supports the implementation of health care reform and believes reforms are necessary for the sustainability of the health care delivery and financing system. However, that does not mean that WellPoint supports all public policies deemed as health care reform. The test for us is whether those public policies meet the definition of free market principles and advance the interests of our customers.
- ★ Political spending by WellPoint, both with corporate dollars and through our political action committees, will reflect the company's interests and be used to further our public policy positions and agenda and not the personal agenda of individual officers, directors or associates.

- ★ WellPoint will not make political contributions based upon party affiliation, positions taken on other, non-enterprise related issues, contributions made in previous election cycles or client pressure. No campaign contribution will be given in anticipation of, in recognition of or in return for an official act.
- ★ WellPoint adheres to all federal, state and local laws and regulations governing the public policy process and has established internal policies and procedures to ensure compliance with these requirements.
- ★ WellPoint discloses contributions made and received in reports filed with the Federal Election Commission and the various state campaign finance offices, as required by law.
- ★ Management of WellPoint's participation in the public policy process is the responsibility of the senior vice president of Public Affairs in accordance with WellPoint's enterprise risk management framework. Subject to change with new CEO structure, this position reports directly to WellPoint's executive vice president, General Counsel and Chief of Public Affairs Officer who reports to the Chief Executive Officer. Public Affairs updates are provided regularly to WellPoint's Board of Directors.
- ★ The Audit Committee of WellPoint's Board of Directors reviews, at least annually, the Company's political strategy, contributions and activities and oversees compliance with the Company's policies and procedures regarding political contributions and activities. The risks associated with political and lobbying activities are managed in accordance with WellPoint's enterprise risk management framework. In addition, WellPoint's Internal Audit Department assesses the risk related to political giving within its annual risk assessment process, has performed reviews in the past, and will perform additional reviews as deemed appropriate.

Policy on Participation in the Public Policy Process

CORPORATE POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

While federal law prohibits WellPoint from making corporate contributions to federal candidates, WellPoint makes direct contributions to support state candidates, political parties, political action committees and ballot measures in those states where such corporate contributions are allowed by law and may make in-kind contributions, such as hosting a reception and paying expenses associated with the event.

Certain criteria are considered in making corporate political contributions, including the following which have been endorsed by WellPoint's Board of Directors:

- ★ Supports public policy that promotes private competition, choice and free markets in the delivery and financing of health care.
- ★ Voting record or announced positions on issues important to WellPoint and its customers.
- ★ Demonstrated leadership on key committees of importance to our business.
- ★ Impact of contribution in a state or district where WellPoint has a large concentration of employees and/or customers.

- ★ Impact of contribution on the campaign.

Throughout the year, members of WellPoint's Public Affairs organization make recommendations for corporate contributions. The senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company must approve each corporate contribution. Other members of the Public Affairs organization involved with political contributions include the vice president of State Affairs, the vice president of Federal Affairs and their direct reports. In making corporate contributions, WellPoint complies with all disclosure requirements as prescribed by state and federal law.

WELLPOINT POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE CONTRIBUTIONS

WellPoint provides an opportunity for eligible WellPoint associates, as defined by federal and state law, to participate in the political process by sponsoring the nonpartisan WellPoint Political Action Committee ("WellPAC"), which allows them to voluntarily combine their personal funds to support federal and state candidates, political parties and political committees. WellPAC disbursement of funds is made in accordance with a budget, and the same contribution criteria identified for corporate contributions is considered in determining WellPAC contributions.

Throughout the year, members of WellPoint's Public Affairs organization and associate PAC members offer recommendations for WellPAC contributions. WellPAC contributions are approved by the senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company. WellPAC operates pursuant to all relevant state and federal laws, and complies with all public disclosure requirements. Information about WellPAC's contributions may be found on the Federal Election Commission's website.

When participating in the political process, WellPoint associates must comply with the company's ethics and compliance requirements identified in the "Standards of Ethical Business Conduct," which is available on our website. This document sets forth appropriate associate conduct relating to political activity and contributions, as well as interaction with government officials and agencies.

WELLPOINT TRADE ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIPS

Like most major corporations, WellPoint is a member of a number of national and state industry and business trade associations (organized under section 501(c)(6) of the Internal Revenue Code) to help advance our public policy agenda and related business goals. WellPoint believes that membership in these associations is generally consistent with the company's interests and plays a valuable role in bringing a collective voice to the process. WellPoint also understands that not all members of an association will come to agreement on every issue. Even when WellPoint does not share the view of one of these associations, we still believe that membership is worthwhile because these associations encourage dialogue and help to move the industry to a consensus on important policy issues. However, WellPoint does take these situations into consideration annually when determining annual membership. Payments to industry and business trade associations are subject to the same "Core Principles for Participation" and Audit Committee review and oversight.

Lobbying Activity

WellPoint engages in lobbying activity to advocate our position on public policy issues with elected officials and others in federal and state government. These are issues that affect our company, our associates and, most importantly, our customers. In 2012, WellPoint spent $3.6 million on state lobbying activities* and $4.6 million on federal lobbying activities.

The senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company has oversight of all lobbying activities and expenditures. Other members of the Public Affairs organization involved with lobbying include the vice president of State Affairs, the vice president of Federal Affairs and their direct reports. WellPoint complies with all disclosure requirements as prescribed by state and federal law.

In 2012, WellPoint paid dues to national and state business and trade associations of which a portion may be allocated to non-deductible lobbying activity and political expenditures. Below is a list of the national and state business and trade associations whose dues were $50,000 or more for 2012, including the portion allocated to non-deductible lobbying activity and political expenditures.
